THE BIG DEVELOPMENT COMPANY.
It is Getting Ready for Extensive Operations.

A meeting of the Roanoke Development Company was held at noon yesterday in the office of the Roanoke Trust, Loan and Safe Deposit Company.

The following officers were re-elected: President, Arthur C. Denniston, of Philadelphia; vice-president and treasurer, J. W. Jamison; secretary, W. S. McClanahan.

The directors are A. C. Denniston, P. L. Terry, Joseph H. Sands, Richard S. Brock, Clarence M. Clark, Dr. J. A. Gale, S. W. Jamison and James S. Simmons.

The meeting was called to order and Mr. E. C. Pechin made chairman.

The charter for the company was read and approved. The by-laws governing the management were adopted, and all the routine business pertaining to the organization was gone through with.

Mr. Gilpin who has been for the past three years with the Pennsylvania railroad, has been secured as general manager, and reached Roanoke yesterday morning to take control of the business management of the company.

Mr. Gilpin is a gentleman of more than ordinary ability, and the company is fortunate in procuring his services for such an important enterprise.

This is the strongest company ever organized for the development of any property adjacent to Roanoke, and it is now ready to begin work on its 1,300 acres of beautiful land west of the city. It is already negotiating for the location of enterprises, and with the vast amount of money laid aside for that purpose it will have no trouble in securing them.

THE BUENA VISTA COMPANY.

It Purchases a Large Tract of Land and Will Improve It.

The Buena Vista Land Company held a meeting yesterday at the office of Captain M. M. Rogers, for the purpose of organization, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Capt. N. M. Rogers, president; James S. Simmons, vice-president, and Major H. A. Rogers, secretary and treasurer. The directors were elected as follows: James S. Simmons, Capt. M. M. Rogers, E. C. Pechin, Col. Thomas Lewis, J. T. Engleby, J. W. Krum, C. O'Leary, J. H. Brown, Samuel Crozer, Jr., Chas. G. Eddy, John D. Langhorn and A. C. Denniston.

The meeting was called to order, with Col. Thomas Lewis in the chair, and the charter that had been secured was read and adopted.

This company has purchased 530 acres of land lying in the southeastern part of the city and formerly belonging to Col. G. C. Taylor.

The property will be opened up at once, and the company will immediately proceed to erect buildings and secure manufacturing.

Old exchanges for sale at THE TIMES office; 20 cents per 100.

A CITY OF YOUNG HUSTLERS.

Roanoke Full of Enterprising Young Men.

They Lead Big Enterprises and are Successful—Short and Interesting Sketches of Some of the Young Men Who are Helping Make the Magic City.

Roanoke is a city of young men. They fill hotels, boarding-houses and private residences on every street.

They occupy hundreds of desks in the many offices of the different branches of business in Roanoke.

They inaugurate big enterprises and make them successful. They are to be counted on when there is a need for public spirit and the interests of the city are at stake.

Roanoke's young men are nifty, and daring, and resolute. They make big deals and handle them so as to make money.

Roanoke is full of opportunities for young men, and many of those who are here are taking advantage of them.

The Times this morning presents short sketches of some of the most prominent and successful young men of the city and will follow out this line hereafter.

None but the unmarried young business men are written up to-day, and the young lady readers of THE TIMES can find here good timber for husbands.

Mr. Francis B. Kemp is one of the youngest real estate men in the city, and is also one of the most successful.

He doesn't look to be over twenty-three. He had the courage and faith in Roanoke to borrow $200 about two years ago, with which to go into business. His profits this year will amount to something like $100,000.

He believes in printers' ink and hustling, and these two things are the secrets of his success. He is the head of a firm that now has branch offices at Buchanan, Max Meadows, Front Royal, Shenandoah and Winston, N. C.

Mr. Kemp is a little man with sharp, clear-cut features, and keen eyes that look keenly through a pair of gold-rimmed glasses.

Mr. A. D. Rice, of the firm of C. O'Leary & Co., is a native hustler. He is an active little man with a light mustache and blue eyes, and the girls say he is good looking.

He is secretary of the Development and Guarantee Company, which secured the Roanoke and Southern, and has been secretary of the Roanoke Real Estate Exchange for some time.

It's a cold day when he fails to sell a lot.

Mr. Junius Fishburn, cashier of the National Exchange Bank, is twenty-two years of age, and is another native who has kept in the front ranks of the progress of recent years.

He was educated at Danville, Ky., and received his business training in Roanoke. The high standing of the exchange speaks well for Mr. Fishburn's business qualifications.

Among the most successful young men who have come to Roanoke on the tide since 1882 is Assistant Manager Cobb of Hotel Roanoke. Mr. Cobb is a native of Hanover county, and came from Frederick, Md., where he had been engaged as a hotel clerk.

His first position here was in charge of the office of Rorer Park Hotel, where he remained until the opening of Hotel Roanoke.

He gets a good salary, and has made money paying investments in real estate.

Perhaps there is no other man so well acquainted with the traveling public that comes to Roanoke as Mr. Cobb, and he is universally popular.

He is of small stature, with light hair and blue eyes. He has a clean-shaven, youthful face, but shows determination, stability and intelligence.

No young man in Roanoke stands higher in the estimation of his employers, or the public generally than does Assistant Manager Cobb.

Mr. C. E. Graves, stenographer and book-keeper for the Roanoke Construction Company and the Citizens' Bank, is a native of Cork, Ireland, and was educated at Middleton College.

He is a fine scholar and has considerable literary and dramatic talent. He is prominent in literary and social circles and church work. He is a Presbyterian.

Mr. Frank Helvestine, stenographer to General Manager Sands, of the Norfolk and Western railroad, is a bright, enterprising and successful young business man.

He has judiciously invested the surplus of his salary, and made quite a little amount. Roanoke has gained quite a number of his friends by having him here.

He is from Berryville, Clark county. Mr. C. R. Link, a young lawyer who came here from Bedford county, is a general favorite. He takes an active interest in the growth of the city and general public improvements.

He is polished and dignified in his manners, and takes a lively interest in several social organizations.

Cashier H. S. Cole, of the State Savings Bank, is a young Georgian who is doing well in the Magic City. He is secretary and treasurer of the Roanoke Building Company, and secretary of the Roanoke Cement, Stone and Building Company.

He came to Roanoke last June from Marietta, Ga., where he was connected with a national bank. He is slender and very youthful looking, but is a young man of business qualifications.

Chas. Lyle the popular druggist on the corner of Salem avenue and Commerce street, is still a young man. He has a very successful business and is largely interested in many companies organized for the development of this region.

Mr. Samuel Christian, the manager of Fox & Christian's drug store, is another very enterprising and successful young business man. He is prominent in society circles.

Mr. E. J. Jacobs, the clerk in charge of the office force of the motive power department of the Roanoke Machine Works, is 25 years of age.

He is a native of Chambersburg, Pa., and the son of a large tobacco dealer. He graduated with the highest honors from the high school of his native town, afterwards engaging in the business of his father.

Under Cleveland's administration he was placed in charge of the delivery department of the Chambersburg post-office.

He has been in Roanoke for three years, and during this time has made money and many friends.

Mr. C. F. Blount, one of the grocers of Salem avenue, has within a year's time built up a strong business on a strictly cash basis. He is a man of fine physique, sterling character and unusual business character.

He has lately become associated with the real estate firm of Dupuy & Taliaferro.

Mr. J. C. Davenport, the cashier of the Commercial National Bank, though he came to Roanoke with the original boom, is a young man. He is a native of Charleston, W. Va., and has been in the banking business ever since he has been here.

He was teller of the First National Bank for five years, has been cashier of the Commercial about a year, having succeeded Mr. J. B. Levy, who is now president of the Citizens' Bank.

Mr. W. F. Penn, the teller of the Commercial, is also a young man of fine business qualities, who is succeeding finely in Roanoke.

Mr. J. Walter Boswell, of the real estate firm of Gray & Boswell, is one of the leading young business men of the city. He is rather boyish looking, but he knows how to sell town lots and talk for Roanoke.

Walter Murphy, of the Commercial Club, is younger than he looks, and is well pleased with his success in Roanoke. He is a genuine "far feel" though he is from the corn whiskey region of North Carolina, instead of the tar, pitch and turpentine section. He received his education at the University of his native State.

Mr. R. H. Gray, Mr. Boswell's partner, is another leading real estate man. He was elected director of the Real Estate Exchange at the reorganization last week.

Mr. Albert Stone is the intelligent and business-like secretary and treasurer of the Bell Printing and Manufacturing Company. He is another one of the young men who has an important position.

LOOK WELL TO THIS.

A Threatened Diversion of the B. & O. from the Magic City.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—[Special]—United States Senator Daniel and a number of business men from Lynchburg were here to-day and had a conference with President Mayer and Vice-presidents Smith and Lord and Director Blackford in regard to the extension of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Lexington to Lynchburg, a distance of fifty miles. The Baltimore and Ohio officers promised the Virginia delegation to look into the matter at an early day.

OFFICIAL MAJORITIES.

For Congressmen Bigger than Was Expected.

RICHMOND, Nov. 15.—[Special]—The following are the official majorities or pluralities of the ten Democratic Congressmen recently elected, with the exception of Charles City county, in the Second district: Scott in the Ninth, and Appomattox in the Fourth district, which will increase somewhat the majorities of the respective candidates in these districts.

Jones, 2,766 plurality; Lawson, 478 plurality; Wise, 13,937 majority; Lester, 8,907 plurality; Edmunds, 10,510 majority; O'Ferrall, 8,942 majority; Lee, 3,318 majority; Buchanan, 4,600 majority; Tucker, 8,779 majority; Epps, 2,660.

Too Young Things.

Addison Lawson and Wesley Larkins, two diminutive negro boys, were arrested yesterday morning by Officer Vest for disturbing the peace. When searched at the station-house, a razor was found on Lawson and a pistol on Larkins. As neither of the boys is sixteen years of age, this business makes one feel uncomfortable, as they are types of a class. Mayor Evans fixed each of them $10, which they were unable to pay, and they were sent to jail.

The Cold Storage Company.

The Roanoke Cold Storage Company is now ready to commence its building, and will begin work immediately.

Yesterday evening the stockholders held a meeting in the office of the Pocahontas Coal Company and effected an organization, adopting a constitution and by-laws. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and it was developed that much business was waiting for the company.

Resisted an Officer.

George Harris, colored, was disorderly at the depot last night, and when warned to behave himself by Officers Ware and Traut he became abusive, and when arrested resisted the officers. He furnished bail in $25 for his appearance to-morrow morning at the mayor's court.

Shot at His Mother.

A negro giving the pretentious name of Joe Jackson Eggleston was arrested last night for shooting at his mother. He was locked up at the station to await an interview with Mayor Evans in the morning.

ROANOKE'S CHURCHES FULL.

They Are Crowded at Every Service.

Steps Are Being Taken to Build a Number of New Houses of Worship—Where You Can Hear a Sermon or Attend Sabbath School.

The spiritual needs of citizen and sojourner are reasonably attended to in Roanoke, and the church people of the city are bestirring themselves to provide for the unprecedented demand for church accommodations that has been exhibited in the last year.

Everywhere from pastors comes the cry: "We are overcrowded; aisles and recesses are taken up by visitors; the congregation changes daily," and similar expressions.

Gradually this condition of affairs will be overcome, and new churches are being erected, others are projected, and some of the old ones planning for increased capacity.

It augurs well for a town of such spontaneous growth, sheltering a heterogeneous mass of people from all portions of our country that the facilities for worshipping God are unequal to the demand.

In this utilitarian age it has often been claimed that the accumulation of a competency was the first and most important duty of man, and that "Put money in thy purse" was incompatible with professions of Christianity.

Roanoke joins issue with this sentiment, and shows by the facts here recited that the race for wealth does not deter man from laying aside, at stated periods, all business cares, and joining one another in the worship of God and his glory.

Appended is a list of the churches which will hold services to-day, with a statement of membership, etc.

Lee Street Church (Methodist Episcopal)—Rev. W. T. Schooley, pastor: This church has 75 communicants, and at each service a large number of strangers attend. Regular services will be held at 11:30 a. m. to-day, and at 7:30 p. m. the pastor will deliver an "Appeal to the Saloon Men."

The Sunday-school numbers 120 and meets at 2:30 p. m. Sunday afternoons. A. S. Meacham is the superintendent. Mr. Richardson secretary, Charles Sisler librarian, William Hesser treasurer and William C. Wyeum the chorister.

Attached to this church are two auxiliary organizations, the Epworth League, recently formed, and the Ladies' Aid. The latter meets each Monday night at the parsonage and the former on Friday nights at the church.

The Lutheran Church is one of the oldest in this section, and is a lusty body that is doing much to increase church facilities in this region. Rev. J. A. Huffard, who acted as assistant pastor to the Rev. John E. Bushnell, is now the regular shepherd of the Lutheran flock in this district. Mr. Bushnell, whom he succeeded, having been appointed synodical missionary for this district.

The Second Lutheran Church at Taylor and Luther streets, is now the main church of the followers of Martin Luther, as St. Mark's has been torn down to make room for the erection of a handsome and spacious edifice. A portion of the congregation worship in the chapel of the First ward school house, where there will be services this morning, conducted by the Rev. J. A. Huffard. Sunday-school will be held at 9:30 a. m. in this chapel.

At 7:30 p. m. Mr. Huffard will preach at the Second Church, at which place Sunday-school devotions will be paid at 3 p. m.

The combined membership of these two churches numbers 350, and many strangers attend the services. There are 250 scholars in the Sunday-schools. St. Mark's church, when completed, will cost $10,000, and another pastor will be assigned to this city and the congregation form two separate churches.

Attached to the church are a Woman's Missionary Society, Society of Christian Endeavor, and two branches of the King's Daughters.

Mr. P. L. Terry, Hon. H. S. Trout, Dr. A. Z. Kolner, Messrs. J. S. Simmons, David Amfield, T. W. Miller, C. Markley, S. I. Spiggle, A. L. Garley and W. F. Baker comprise the executive council of this church.

To-day week this congregation will consecrate St. James' Church at Vinton. The services will be conducted by Rev. W. E. Hurbert, secretary of the synod, and the consecration sermon will be preached by Rev. J. E. Bushnell, synodical missionary, until recently the local Lutheran minister, and who yet resides here. The order of consecration will be conducted by Pastor Huffard, assisted by visiting ministers. At 7:15 p. m. Prof. F. V. V. Painter will preach in the chapel.

Greene Memorial Church, M. E. Church South, at the corner of Roanoke and Campbell streets, is also a spreading institution. It is now negotiating for two new sites, for churches, one of which will be located on Jefferson street south of Fourth avenue and the other in the northeast section.

The wants of this congregation are looked after by two ministers, Rev. J. H. Boyd and Rev. C. H. Buchanan. It has a membership of 320, having taken 230 new members within the last eight months, principally by letter from other cities.

The attendance here is very gratifying, and the church is packed to the doors at every service, large numbers of strangers praising God with its members at each service.

Two flourishing Sunday-schools are conducted, one of which J. W. Wood is the superintendent—meeting in the church at 9:30 a. m.; the other at Y. M. C. A. Hall at the same hour. Of the latter G. S. Stevens is superintendent.

Each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. is held the regular prayer meeting, and on Thursday at the same hour there is a prayer meeting for young men.

The church is plentifully supplied with auxiliary societies, embracing an Aid Society, Willing Workers, and Virginia Rosebuds, the latter a juvenile missionary society of which F. F. Fishburne is the superintendent.

In this church the morning sermon of to-day will be preached by Rev. G. W. Wray, and the evening discourse delivered by Rev. W. P. Wright, both of whom stop over here on their way back from the Lynchburg conference.

The Presbyterian Church is located at corner of Fourth avenue and Roanoke street. Rev. C. W. Campbell is the pastor. There are 500 communicants in this congregation, and a large number of strangers add to the throng of worshippers at each service. The church receives accessions each week, by letter and through confession of faith.

The Sunday-school has 250 members, and is under the superintendency of W. Thomas, assisted by T. J. Teaford, and holds its sessions at 9:30 a. m.

This morning Professor Painter, of the Roanoke College at Salem, will deliver the discourse, and at night Rev. Dr. S. M. Fiery will occupy the pulpit. Both of these gentlemen are orators and scholars, and a spiritual treat is promised those who attend.

The Baptists have but one church here at present, situated on Roanoke street between Luck street and Franklin road. Rev. O. F. Flippo is the pastor, and is known throughout the State as an eloquent and forcible speaker. His flock is 378 in number, but those who sit under his ministrations are only estimated by the capacity of the church, and large numbers are turned away from every service.

William G. Evans, B. A. Jones and G. A. Turner are the deacons, and R. S. Williams is clerk.

The Sunday-school is a flourishing body, and carries on its rolls the names of 375 scholars, and had an average attendance the past year of 197. Mayor Evans is the superintendent.

Attached to the church are two Ladies' Aid Societies, and two auxiliaries supplement the work of the Sabbath-school.

Regular services will be held to-day at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Rev. W. H. Meade is the rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, located at the corner of Commerce and Church streets. This church, like all the others, is constantly adding to its membership; 215 were reported as the strength of the church four months ago, while now there are at least 350. To these may be added as many more transient worshippers as the church will hold. As the rector explained it, they came too fast for him to get acquainted with them.

Col. George P. Taylor and Mr. H. N. Claxton are the wardens, and T. D. Hobart secretary of the vestry. J. F. Wingfield is treasurer of the church.

The Ladies' Pastoral Aid and the St. Agnes Guild are active helpers in the work of the church, and accomplish much good, but by reason of limited quarters there is no guild for young men, such as form so interesting a feature in Episcopal churches in other cities.

The Sunday-school has a membership of ninety-two, teachers and scholars, and the pastor is superintendent, Mr. R. E. Scott being his assistant.

The Fourth Avenue Christian Church will hold regular services at the usual hours to-morrow. Rev. J. C. Jackson, officiating. This church, too, is cramped for room, the aisles being often trespassed upon to furnish room for the crowds of strangers which attend.

St. Andrews' Catholic Church, Rev. Father J. W. Lynch, pastor, is the only representative of the Catholic Church here, and also feels the influx of outsiders, the attendance every Sunday taxing the seating capacity of the edifice to the utmost. Mass is celebrated at 8 a. m., and solemn mass at 10 a. m.

In addition to the above there are a large number of churches for the colored folks, which are well attended.

THE APPRAISERS' REPORT.

The Gas and Water Company Get an Increased Reward.

The committee of appraisement appointed by the Hustings Court to assess the damages by the Roanoke and Southern Railroad Company in passing through the property of the Roanoke Gas and Water Company, on Holliday street, have completed their work and made a report of their findings.

At a previous appraisement the damages were fixed at $6,000, and the Gas and Water Company appealed from their decision on the ground of insufficiency. This appeal was sustained by Judge Robertson, who ordered a reappraisement, and appointed as appraisers Messrs. S. W. Howerton, G. T. Derr and W. T. Watkins.

This committee, in their report, have increased the amount of the award to $10,000, which amount still falls short $5,000 of the amount claimed.

Judge Robertson intimated in his decision that the damage should be at least $9,000.

The same appraisers have fixed the damages accruing to J. H. Wayt for the taking of a portion of his property on Campbell street, between Randolph and Holliday street. This they placed at $6,000.

It is supposed that these proceedings will complete the litigation growing out of the efforts of the citizens of Roanoke to secure the right of way into this city for the Roanoke and Southern.

The Old Roman's Acknowledgment.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—[Special]—Judge Thurman wishes to acknowledge, through the Associated Press, the receipt of several thousand letters and telegrams of a congratulatory nature which he received yesterday and last night from friends in all parts of the country, and to which he finds it impossible to reply personally. He sends greetings and assurances that he never enjoyed better health or felt more brilliant than he has since the great banquet in honor of his seventy-seventh anniversary.

A GREAT PANIC AVERTED.

Baring Bros. & Co. Succored by the Bank of England.

How the News Was Received on Wall Street—Black Friday Recalled—Investment Stocks Reach the Lowest Point Ever Known, While Speculative Tumblers Into a Bottomless Pit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special]—Private cables received before the opening of the stock exchange this morning announcing that Baring Bros. were in trouble, and stating that the Bank of England, the Rothschilds, and other bankers had taken up the account of Baring Bros. amounting to £15,000,000, created a sensation. Conferences of brokers were at once had, and it was decided to have brokers in every stock that could be handled to bid advanced prices at the opening, so as to avert a sudden shock.

As the result, prices for nearly all active stocks opened 1/2 to 2 per cent. above last night's close, the extreme gain being made by Northern Pacific preferred. Then the liquidation of weak accounts set in on full force, and prices gave way rapidly in all directions. The wildest excitement prevailed, stocks being thrown over in a most reckless manner. The losses in the first hour's trading exceeded anything seen since the present decline began.

The dealings were simply enormous, and the rapidity with which quotations melted away was something unprecedented, there being no halt in the downward movement.

At 11 this morning a panic prevailed. Prices gave way in every direction and brokers were dismayed at the prospect. Delaware, Lackawanna and Hudson, the favorite investment stock, and a property that has always had a value near its speculative price, led in the downward rush with a decline of 9 per cent. Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe went down to 24; Rock Island to 63 1/2, and Sugar Trust to 50, the lowest prices on record for those stocks. Canada Southern and other dividend payers, were thrown over as well as speculative stock.

After 11:15 there was a rally, caused by the following cable from London: "The London special guarantee fund to Baring Brothers & Co. is stated to amount to £10,000,000 sterling. Various financial, banking and discount houses, that are guaranteeing that firm's accounts, state that the crisis is over and the failure of the firm has been averted."

Kidder, Peabody & Co., who are the agents here for Baring Bros. & Co., say they have private advices from London that whatever trouble there may have been there has been completely arranged. The trouble was doubtless caused entirely by the depression in Argentine securities. They say their house is no wise affected.

At 11:30 a better feeling prevailed, and the market was stronger. The London market was comparatively quiet, the feeling being that the crisis was over, and American securities were a fraction higher where any change occurred from yesterday.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—[Special]—Kidder, Peabody & Co., said to-day that they need be no anxiety on the part of creditors of the London firm, as their assets were in excess of liabilities as much, probably, as £10,000,000. They are virtually carrying the Argentine Republic's loan and taking back holdings of those dissatisfied customers to whom they had sold any parts thereof.

"THE COSMOCRAT."

An Illustrated Humorous Paper for Roanoke.

"The Cosmocrat," a twenty-four page illustrated humorous society paper, will issue its first number on Saturday, December 6th.

This sheet, which will appear weekly, will contain humorous matter of the best character, illustrated from pen drawings by Hurst, Howarth and other prominent New York artists.

A special feature will be a large cartoon each week, having for its subject some local question, event or condition.

In addition to this there will be given in each
